

Talia Hoit - Angel - Lyrics

Seems all our lives come down to just a moment
And you can't hold on
Shining star burns out too soon
Because it burns too bright
Don't follow the light

Angel, it's too soon for wings
Cause I forgot to tell you how much you mean to me
You're too young for harps in the sky
Somehow I hoped you'd never learn to fly

So what's this for, what are we trying to prove?
In the end we're all the same
I won't forget, you can't take me with you
Our precious time won't last
It's all we have

Angel, it's too soon for wings
Cause I forgot to tell you how much you mean to me
You're too young for harps in the sky
Somehow I hoped you'd never learn to fly

And the world's less beautiful without you
How can stars rise after they fall
I'd give anything to awake this darkness
I'd give it all

Angel, it's too soon for wings
Cause I forgot to tell you how much you mean to me
You're too young for harps in the sky
Somehow I hoped you'd never learn to fly

Angel, it's too soon for wings
Cause I forgot to tell you how much you mean to me
You're too young for harps in the sky
Somehow I hoped you'd never learn to fly
