

Do you Remember

Do you remember? That time when we fell out. Our thoughts could have lasted forever. That is until you threw them out. A thousand times I'd like to hit rewind. So that I can figure it out. Do you remember? That time when we fucked up. Our hearts could have lasted forever. That is until you threw them out. A thousand times I'd like to hit rewind. So that I can figure it out. And will you surrender? Or hold your breath until you turn blue. Our hearts could have lasted forever. It's too bad that you still can't face the truth.

The Spark

I can't sleep tonight. I guess it's when the feelings not right. I scratch and pick at my wounds. I guess it's so I'll feel something new. I guess it's so I'll feel something new. And when it all comes down It feels like your life is upside down. My darling dear don't you dare forget me. Queen Elizabeth's park I once seen a spark. I looked up to the sky. Well, it opened up. It opened up wide. And when it all comes down It feels like your life is upside down. My darling dear don't you dare forget me. I haven't thought about this in a long time. I haven't thought about this in a long time. I haven't thought about this in a long time. I haven't thought about this in a long time.

Haunted Home

It's okay now. You don't have to pretend. I know you're getting scared that. That this will never end. In silence We live with violence. In silence. Unbeknownst to them they live with ghosts. A complex life you stole. Off a bridge, off a bridge yeah. I know you're getting tired. They will never let you rest. In silence We live with violence. In silence. Unbeknownst to them They live with ghosts. Don't forget to forget. Don't forget tonight. Don't forget to forget. Don't forget tonight! In silence We live with violence. In silence. Unbeknownst to them They live with ghosts.

Problems

We've got too many problems. I don't think I can solve them. Just what do you think will be the thing to resolve them. You've got a bad temper. Oh man I can tell ya Just where do you think we'll be if this lasts forever. You're ignorant and free. Should you feel the need to leave I think you will despise just where your choices lead. Now in your state of mind You've been dying all this time. I think you will despise just where your choices lead. So where have all your friends gone? Abandoned you and then some. Just where do you think they'll be when you need salvation? I've swallowed up all my pride. It took some time I cannot lie. Finally, I think I'm free. From the noose you tried to tie. You're ignorant and free. Should you feel the need to leave? I think you will despise just where your choices lead. Now in your state of mind You've been dying all this time. I think you will despise just where your choices lead.

Blackwater

I know that you are gone. And you will never be forgotten. I hope that you have found your place. For you to rest your head. You rest your head. In that place that we swam in the backwater. I couldn't touch my toes to the bottom. Five years ago, today. We went our separate ways. I hope that you have found your place. For you to rest your head. You rest your head. In that place that we swam in the backwater. I couldn't touch my toes. To the bottom. I know that you are gone. And you will never be forgotten. I hope that you have found your place for you to rest your head. You rest your head. And that place that we swam is now clear blue water. And I dive deep down in it. I can see the bottom.

Distant Memory

A distant memory. A forgotten dream. And I remember everything. The past it echoes endlessly. Endlessly. And I've been treading carefully. Your sanctuary is wearing thin. I can't escape this place I'm in. And if we don't hear it, we won't fear it. And I hope that it's loud enough. You can take back what's mine. I really enjoyed our time, but I don't think that we're tough enough. Your sanctuary is wearing thin. I can't escape this place I'm in. And in the end, we all pretend that our friends will be all right. This is all a memory. Your sanctuary is wearing thin. Your sanctuary is wearing thin. Your sanctuary is wearing thin. I can't escape this place I'm in.

Liquor Store Stories

And it will start with a bang. The sound is heard ten miles away. December seventh I'll remember that day. In a trail of smoke and liquor store stories. And we both know just how far this will go. And we both know. Yeah, we both know. And it can end with a whisper. Nothing was said. Nothing lasts forever. December seventh I'll remember that day. In a trail of smoke and liquor store stories. And we both know just how far this will go. And we both know. Yeah, we both know. And we both know just how far this will go. And we both know.

Too Long

Last night I stayed out late. Way too late for too long. Before too long I took these little pills. Man, we took those pills for too long. Before too long We're in that time you'll tremble at the thought I won't be near. A place that we've all been before the feeling disappears. A place that we've all been before the feeling disappears. Saturday, I hit the bar. I go hard all night long. All night long I can't believe my state. For 32 years I have contemplated how I How I survived. We're in that time you'll tremble at the thought I won't be near. A place that we've all been before the feeling disappears. I want to walk in through the front door and see a smile upon your face. History has shown us that this is not the case. Last night I fell asleep. I finally fucking fell asleep.

Mr Pryor

Richard Pryor Did stand up sitting down. And if I was there, I would have Stood up proud. I believe in the art of comedy. Still in your eyes I can see your tragedy. I believe in the art of comedy. Still in your heart I believe in your tragedy. As it grows quieter those riot kids, they shook their fists. Into the unknown, the one we all strive to know. I believe in the art of comedy. Still in your heart I believe in your tragedy. The Joker and the Jester entertain the King. As their Queen slips away silently into her safety, she orders the arrows to reign upon them. With her smiling down as their castle crumbles. Are you laughing yet? Do you think this song is funny yet?